The spectator mode will soon be available as a free-to-play title.

“We had a lot of fun making Clash of Magic, It’s impossible to see everything all at once in VR especially in the heat of the battle. Compared to mobile games, the strategies in Clash of Magic go well beyond units match up and resource management, deceptions and other real world strategies will come into play and make the experience more engaging .”

said Jay Tang, Narvalous President and co-founder. "We've made Clash Of Magic the perfect tower defense game for VR, allowing people to compete and spectate without any discomfort."

Fast and furious fantasy combat is the hallmark of Clash of Magic, where players defend their towers from fellow competitors in player versus player (PvP), challenge the computer in player versus environment (PvE) or spectate on the mayhem as an observer.

Campaign mode: In the PvE Campaign mode, players challenge the computer across 24 increasingly difficult levels, unlocking new monsters with each challenge conquered, learning the skills and speed it takes to become a master wizard.

Arena mode: in the Clash of Magic arena, almost anything can happen in a battle against another player.— and expect that it will! From friendly duels between friends to eSports ladder tournaments, the arena is the heart of the action in Clash of Magic Spectator mode: Spectator mode allows observers to sit on the sidelines to cheer on their friends, as they match wits against their opponents.
