Houston, 05-08-2017--- Are you ready the next hack-n-and-slash, adventure, action, platformer? Then we have something for you.

PipPow is a stylized, gritty, hack-and-slash, platformer, cooperative and multiplayer video game.
The Hero of the story line, Victor, crash lands onto a prisoner planet and taken captive. Victor and other captured victims are forced to fight the aggresive wildlife on the planet's surface for the entertainment of the civilizations that orbit the planet on the world-wide broadcast show PipPow. You must find a way to escape the planet without the producers of the show noticing your attempts to escape. So, you must play ball.
Entertain the audience, keep the higher-ups happy while you and your fellow prisoners plot a route back to your home worlds.

"We've felt like the gaming community was missing something, and we believe we found it." said Brandon Wassenberg
"We made this, and there's more?" said Victor Cortes after two months of development.
"We should add a double jump." said Andrew Anderson.

Our game is being Kickstarted now. You can learn more about what we have planned for it here: PipPow.com
